At a16z, George will invest across industries, offering up his knowledge of late-stage economics, valuations and Underwriting to a16z's large team of investors.

George is the firm's 15th general partner and at least the Fourth high-level addition to the team in the last year, including Katie Haun, who joined in June to lead a16z's cryptocurrency investment effort.

Digital inclusion is about for example access to affordable broadband and devices, digital literacy – having the rights skills to use the internet, and digital enablement – being able to use technology that improves quality of life.

The aim of the workshop is to gather good practices and expert opinion of our members and civil society organisations specialised in digital rights on the role of new technologies in the accessibility and delivery of services.

On this basis, we will work towards identifying our focus and define our scope of work in this area.

Assistive technology for people with disabilities to perform activities they otherwise would not be able to do; digital skills to empower citizens and carers to fight social exclusion through education, and promote participation of disadvantaged people in public, social and economic activities through social inclusion projects.

The question we ought to ask ourselves every single day is,

"How does each new user/customer we worked so hard for lead to more new users/customers?"
